Renewal of registration for Chinese medicine practitioners due soon

The Chinese Medicine Board of Australia (the Board) announced today that the 2013 renewal of registration campaign for Chinese medicine practitioners is now open.

Over 4,000 Chinese medicine practitioners with general or non-practising registration are due to renew their registration with the Board by 30 November.

Last year over 90 per cent of all health practitioner registration renewals due by 30 November were submitted online.

‘This was a fantastic result and it shows how quick and easy online renewal is,’ Chinese Medicine Board Chair Professor Charlie Xue said.

Anyone who experiences difficulties using the online renewal service can phone the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA) Customer Service Team on 1300 419 495 and a team member will talk them through the process.

Professor Xue reminded Chinese medicine practitioners to carefully read the Chinese Medicine Board’s registration standards which specify the requirements for practice before applying for renewal of their registration.

‘Make sure you understand the declarations you are required to make about meeting the Board’s registration standards,’ he said.

‘You could be asked to give information in support of your declarations so it’s important to know what the requirements are for registration to practise.’

AHPRA, on behalf of the Board, is sending out a series of reminders to practitioners with a registered email address.

It is important that Chinese medicine practitioners make sure AHPRA has their current contact information so they don’t miss future email and hard copy reminders to renew.

To update contact details using AHPRA’s secure online services, Chinese medicine practitioners can visit www.ahpra.gov.au:

- go to the bottom of the home page
- click on Update Contact Details under Services for Practitioners
- use their user ID and secure password, and
- follow the prompts.

Under the National Law¹, all registered Chinese medicine practitioners are responsible for renewing their registration on time each year.
